Anyone who follows boxing knows that the heavyweight division is lacking today. Two of the most promising heavyweight boxers are the Klitschko brothers Vitali and Wladimir. Mobile game maker Artificial Life has produced a mobile boxing game for mobile phones.

Boxing matches in the game are held in training rooms, large arenas, players get tips between rounds in their corner, and codes can be entered to enhance the gameplay. Here's hoping that the game is more exciting than the heavyweight division.

"We love this mobile game and are very excited about that we now can even play a game with our own name on it! Artificial Life is a leader in the mobile space and we enjoy this perfect partnership. Our fans can get excited as well because now finally they can see and participate in the long awaited fight: Vitali against Wladimir!" commented the Klitschko brothers.
