Artificial Life, Inc. today announced their development of Klitschko Boxing — The Official Mobile Game on for the Android mobile platform.

The touch screen will allow for multi-control game play, and the hardware capability helps bring some "extremely refined graphics and animations as well as a wide variety of finely crafted features."

As one of the leading game developers, we always pay close attention to the latest mobile news, trends and technology so that we are ready to quickly adapt as needed for the ever-changing mobile world. Android games will be another major mobile entertainment market and we are happy to make our first move onto this platform with the exciting Klitschko Boxing game. - Eberhard Schoneburg, CEO of Artificial Life, Inc.
